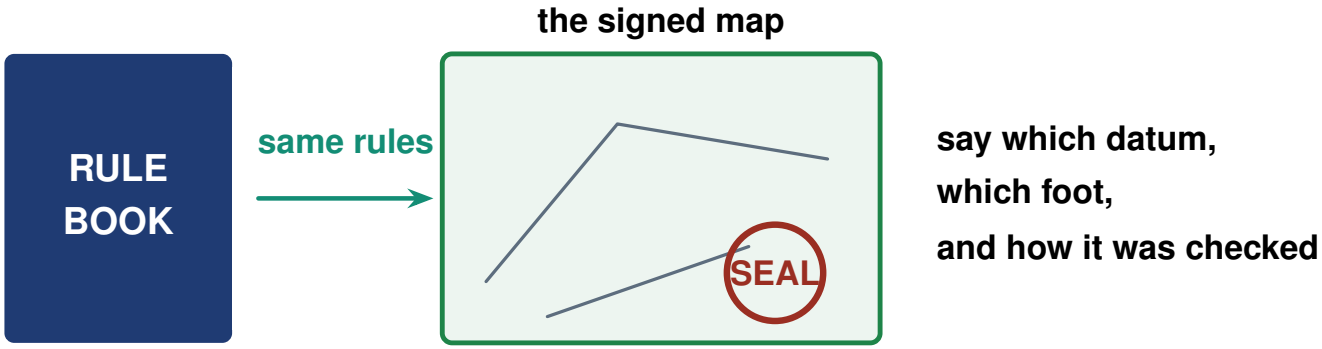
Florida Standards of Practice, FDOT and the New Datums

BIG IDEA

The scanner is a new measuring tape, but the same rulebook still applies.



THE IDEA

Every game has a rulebook. Surveyors in Florida have one too, written by the state. It says what every map must show, how accurate it must be, how you prove it, and how you sign your name to it. When the map is made with a laser scanner instead of a total station, the rulebook still applies.

REMEMBER

- ✓ Accuracy must be checked by points the computer never used.
- ✓ Always label which datum and which foot the numbers use. A mix-up moves every point.
- ✓ New national datums are coming, so keep the data needed to move the map onto them later.

TRY THIS

Write the rules for a simple game you know. What does every player have to do before their score counts?
